Coach Derek Freeman begins his 3rd year as the head coach at UCLA. Freeman has already done what many coaches dream of, winning the NCAA title and being National Champions. The 2008 season ended with UCLA's first national championship victory in 20 years. The 2008-2009 fall season also begins with a preseason ranking of #1 in the country (Golfworld). Freeman has made a quick rise to top by having success at all levels. Four years ago, Freeman was the assistant coach at UCLA. Five years ago, Freeman was the assistant coach at University of Oklahoma. Prior to Oklahoma, Freeman served the previous three seasons at Oklahoma City University, one year as the assistant to both the men's and women's teams and two years as the women's head coach. In Coach Freeman's second season, his team captured the NAIA Women's National Championship and he was named the 2004 NAIA National Coach of the Year.

Assistant Coach Ryan Ressa comes to Westwood after working the previous two seasons at Duke University. Ressa brings 6 years of coaching experience after stints at the University of San Diego, Washington State, and Duke University. Last year, Ressa helped guide Duke to 2 tournament victories and a 14th place finish at the NCAA Championships.

Players will learn the value of fundamentals, organization, short game, and fitness as they explore a day on campus with Coach Freeman and Coach Ressa.
